Target Audience

1. Target Audience

Hard working but stressed out

Who they are

Technical Individuals working in desk-based, hybrid or remote jobs. Health is of importance but demands of work says otherwise.

Major Concern

Exercise is a big commitment and missing out produces guilt.

25-50
Core Age Range

Daily Desk-Time
8-10 hours

Ideal Session
10-20 minutes

Persona Information

2. User Persona

Section 1

Khalid Hussain

"Senior Freelance graphic designer"

- Age: 29
- Home based, irregular hours
- Lives with two flatmates
- Often works past 9pm to meet deadlines

> "I know I should move more, but when a client message comes in at 9pm, the gym is the first thing I drop."

Section 2

Goals

- Build a steady base of long-term clients.
- Keep energy and focus up for creative work.
- Start a consistent fitness routine.

Section 3

Frustrations

- Sits for most of the day with no set break.
- Projects spill into evenings and weekends.
- Unused gym memberships and abandoned workout.

Persona Information

2. User Persona

Section 1

Danielle Brooks

"Senior Accountant"

- Age: 35
- Office-based
- Busy work schedule
- Parent of three

> " I'm really falling behind in terms of keeping up with my health. I have to start exercising but it shouldn't clash with my family time."

Section 2

Goals

- Spending quality time with family.
- Making self active and healthy.
- Being a role model for his kids.

Section 3

Frustrations

- Commute wastes his best energy.
- Cannot take time for gym.
- Self-commitments are overdue.

Persona Information

2. User Persona

Section 1

Matilda Adams

"Call Center Agent"

- Age: 27
- Desk-based
- Lives alone
- Does night shifts

> "I'm too tired for exercise in the morning, but I can't do it at work either. "

Section 2

Goals

- Fulfilling duties at work.
- Getting some good sleep.
- Keeping self fit and smart.

Section 3

Frustrations

- Neck and back stiffness.
- Sleeping replaces time for exercise.
- Remains busy all night long.

Empathy Map

3. Empathy Map

Inside Khalid's workday

Sees

Sees 👀

- Client messages arriving late at night.
- Friends and designers posting morning workout routines online.
- The same desk and screen from waking until bed.

Thinks

Thinks 🤔

- "I'll start exercising on Monday."
- "Just one more revision, then I'll stop."
- "Work comes first until things settle down."

Feels

Feels ❤️

- Restless and sluggish by mid-afternoon.
- Guilty about skipped workouts.
- Anxious about irregular income.

Does

Does 📈

- Downloads fitness apps, then stops using them after a week.
- Skips lunch breaks to meet deadlines.
- Walks only to the coffee shop around the corner.

Empathy Map

3. Empathy Map

Inside Danielle's workday

Sees

Sees 👀

- His children having busy evenings.
- His colleagues and friends talk about prevention and health scares.
- Long hours at desk without breaks.

Thinks

Thinks 🤔

- "I need to do some workout."
- "How can I spend some good time with my family?"
- "I need someone to tell me what counts today."

Feels

Feels ❤️

- Burnout
- Guilt
- Responsible

Does

Does 📈

- A walk from the parking lot to his office.
- Does exercises at weekends but loses momentum.
- Checks health indications but lacks the next step.

Empathy Map

3. Empathy Map

Inside Matilda's workday

Sees

Sees 👀

- Her friends doing yoga and workouts even with a job.
- Fitness content built around dramatic transformations.
- Long workouts feel impossible to start.

Thinks

Thinks 🤔

- "How can I reduce the stiffness?
- "I skip anything that takes more than 20 minutes."
- "I can't just skip work for a workout."

Feels

Feels ❤️

- Tired after work.
- Guilty for missing planned workouts.
- Disappointed with herself.

Does

Does 📈

- Saves workouts for later but rarely returns.
- Plans exercises in short bursts at weekends but never does.
- Takes painkillers for stiffness.